FONT ADDENDUM NOTES . . .

The first volume of The Chicago TI Users' Group's Encyclopaedia of Graphics attempted to be an exhaustive and a comprehensive catalog of all of the fonts available to us in the 4A/9640 community. To the best of our knowledge, all fonts, which were commercially available, at that time, were included in that volume. At the same time that that volume was being released, new fonts were also being released into our community. For this reason, it is necessary for us to include the following addendum of fonts.

This font addendum includes the fonts of a relatively new software company, Notung Software. The company is run by Messers Ken Gilliland and Ray Kazmer. At the printing of this volume, their catalog currently contains four disks of new and unique fonts. The names of these disks are "Fonts & Borders" (Volumes I - IV), and, as the title implies, some very decorative and handsome borders are also included on each of these disks.

Also included on these disks are some "illuminated" alphabetic characters. In the past, all of the fonts which we have represented have each been able to be loaded in its entirety into the buffer of some working environment. These illuminated characters are individual TI Artist instances, and each must be loaded singularly and separately into a working environment (TI Artist, TPA4MDOS, Page Pro, etc.). As we have chosen to include the illuminated characters from Notung's font packages, we also considered it to be appropriate to include those which were also created for Ken Gilliland's "Disk of Dinosaurs", which is available from Asgard software. We might also mention that two very handsome sets of illuminated characters may be found among the TIPS graphics; each of these may be translated into Page Pro picture or TI Artist instance format. Notung Software may be acquired from the following address: 7647 McGroarty Street, Tujunga, California 91042.

INDEX NOTES . . .

The index for this addendum uses the following suffix codes:

_F for Artist's fonts
_I for Artist's instances
_LN for Page Pro line fonts

It may be desirable to integrate this addendum into volume #1 of the E.O.G. by adding it the end of that volume.

PAGE PRO LINE FONT NOTES

Ed Johnson's fine program, "Page Pro 99," is a very fine piece of software. It is also unique in its approach to the loading of alphabetic characters. "Page Pro 99" has three different buffers for the loading of alphabetic characters. There is a buffer for large fonts, for small fonts, and for line characters. (Line fonts are accessed by pressing the F1ctn 8 Key, and this presents the user with a two different styles of frames which can be used to enhance a page of text and/or graphics.) Before the release of the "LINE FONTS" software package, the user of "Page Pro 99" was limited to using those characters which appear upon his/her computer input keyboard. He/she was also limited to the default frame which come with "Page Pro 99," when initially purchased.

A line font, when loaded into the line buffer (by pressing Ctrl A, changes Page Pro's default line patterns to either a new set of frame styles, a set of special characters that can be used for business forms, or into a set of font extensions. These extensions are foreign language characters, math symbols, financial symbols, etc. The loading of a special line font can allow the printing of the following sort of text:

25¢ ¿Que paso? El niño £500 Köchel #223 $\pi=3.14$

32°F 9 X 3 ≠ 2 X 6 François a ≥ c ½ √81 = 9 ¼

As you can see, the addition of these special is a real boon to the user of "Page Pro 99."

A TPA4MDOS CLARIFICATION...

In volume one, of the C.T.I.U.G.'s E.O.G., which was devoted to the cataloging of fonts in the TI/9640 community, it was noted that some Artist fonts couldn't be loaded at all, and some of them couldn't be loaded completely. As a result of this revelation, Mr. Mike McCann, the fine author of TPA4MDOS, wrote me a letter clarifying this problem. The following material is taken from his letter of November 19, 1990:

"Dear Don,

"I just received your monumental compendium in the mail. Thank you very much for the copy and for your effort. You probably got my tardy answer to your first letter and I hope it answered some questions about TPA. However, with the amount of time you spent doing the Encyclopedia you surely qualify as an expert by now.

"There is one little 'oops' I would like to mention with regard to some of the fonts that you noted would not operate with TPA. For instance, on page 108 there is the font "LARR." TPA is not at fault here -- there is a trick, however. To get "LARR" to look right the inter character space must be set to zero, and the work-wrap turned off (i.e., 'R' for ragged columns). This allows 'LARR' to show its stuff each character in 'LARR' exactly abuts with its neighbor making a cute little cutout block. This is the same for 'CHOCHO, BANNER, FAST and several other fonts which you noted did not work in TPA. The fault, my friend, is neither in our fonts nor in TPA but in our perceptions and expectations of how they are to work together. .

The above information is printed here to correct any misconceptions which may have been given as a result of incorrect information which was published in the first E.O.G.
